Daniels Road construction site

I hope that you and your family are safe and well during these difficult times.

On 4 January, the Prime Minister announced new national lockdown restrictions across the country to help control and push back against the spread of a new variant of COVID-19. This brought new restrictions in addition to those which were in place in London for several weeks, including asking people to stay at home apart from essential travel.

In line with Central Government guidance, the construction sector and its supply chain will continue to operate during the national lockdown. We agree that it is essential for construction sites to continue operating to provide desperately needed new homes for those in housing need as quickly as possible. Construction at Daniels Road, will therefore be continuing throughout the lockdown.

We know that most of you will now be spending the majority of your time at home during working hours and many of you will be trying to work or have children taking part in online lessons at home. We understand that noise from construction sites near to your home during working hours will therefore be more disruptive than would normally be the case.

I am writing to reassure you that we have communicated guidance to all of our contractors to ensure that their operations are as considerate as possible to residents living near to construction sites. They will be making every effort to keep disruption to a minimum and are mindful of residents living and working nearby. However, as I'm sure you will understand, some noise and disruption from these activities is unavoidable and I apologise in advance for any disturbance this may cause to you and your family. The temporary disruption is necessary to provide desperately needed homes for other residents.

Many contractors are working at reduced capacity to ensure that social distancing is maintained on site, so there will be less noise and disruption than would typically be generated from construction sites.

All of our contractors are already registered with the Considerate Constructors Scheme (CCS) and abide by the Code of Considerate Practice. The Code commits these companies to respect the community where they operate, protect the environment, secure everyone's safety and value their workforce.

If you are struggling to cope with the level of noise and disruption coming from Daniels Road site, or you have any other concerns about the site, please do not hesitate to contact me on the details below:
